1. INTRODUCTION

The language can provide a sense of relaxation in communicating both formally and informally. It is a beautiful way to express oneself and symbols are powerful tools. Moreover, it is exclusive to humans, and is the distinguishing feature that sets us apart from all other living creatures. Linguistics is based on the idea that language is learned through practice and experimentation. The more a person uses language, the better it becomes understood. Various western countries recognize this language as their national language. There, it is a common language among us. The language used to communicate between different linguistic groups. The use of language in various educational institutions and technical fields is important. It is very important to mention that English language is not difficult to learn, as it is given more importance in different institutions [1]. Many people view the English language as a sign of literacy. Being able to understand and communicate in English is considered as a sign of intelligence. It gets very highly esteemed and respected in different sectors. It seems to be becoming a general principle that civilization is based on English. The civilized person should know the basic concepts of the English language. English is a language that is used to communicate with people from all over the world. It is a way to connect with people from different parts of the world [2].

2. SOCIETAL PERSUASIONS

As per (Moises Tercero) Speaking English is important today because it gives you a lot of advantages when it comes to communication, life quality, and education. English is a versatile language that can be used to communicate with people from all sorts of backgrounds. Foreign languages are commonly spoken by those who speak English. Throughout the world, people from different languages typically communicate using English. This language is commonly spoken by many people around the world for various purposes [3].

As per (Leyder Lopez) English is one of the most important languages in our lives because it is the language we use to communicate with others, and it is the language that we use to learn new things. Firstly, Many English speakers choose to study abroad and can get a top quality education from prestigious universities such as Harvard. English speakers can learn about other cultures and languages. Second, highly proficient speakers of a language have better job opportunities because English is the business language of choice and it is becoming increasingly necessary for people to be able to speak it in order to work in a global economy [3].

The statement of (Cesar Arguello) The importance of learning English has increased in recent times for a variety of reasons. English speakers have more opportunities than people who speak English. For example, many of the classes at prestigious universities are held in English-speaking countries, so they can attend without difficulty. English is also a very common language in business meetings, so English-speaking job candidates have a better chance of getting hired [3].

As per the opinion of (Alfredo Gutierrez) Today speaking English is an important factor in becoming a successful person. English helps prepare people for a variety of professional opportunities. It gives them the ability to communicate with people from all over the world. E.g. in a football match, referees need to speak English to communicate with players from all over the world. Many of the world best films, books, and music are published and produced in English. By learning English, will be able to enjoy a vast array of entertainment and gain a deeper understanding of cultural life [3].
